HOLOCAUST STUDIES MINOR

The minor in Holocaust Studies combines a core in history with the opportunity for students to explore the Holocaust through film, literature, philosophy, psychology, sociology, and other history offerings. The following curriculum will help students develop a firm knowledge of the Holocaust as an event, and an understanding of its precipitating factors and legacy. With a deeper awareness of such issues as prejudice, discrimination and racism, students should be better able to analyze contemporary political situations and think critically about ethical responsibility.
