Keene State College

Founded in 1909 with 27 students as a two-year normal school to train teachers for rural classrooms, the school expanded into four-year programs in 1939, when it was named Keene Teachers College. Graduate studies were introduced after World War II, and in 1963 the institution became Keene State College, part of the University System of New Hampshire and authorized by the legislature to provide curricula in the liberal arts and sciences. Today the College has more than 5,700 students on its 170-acre campus and offers nearly 40 programs of study.

As a public liberal arts college, Keene State is distinguished by an academic program designed to develop the habits of mind – critical reading, precise writing, creative thinking – that prepare students for professional work and good citizenship. The school provides a wealth of opportunities for collaboration among students, faculty, and community partners. Students who walk down Appian Way for the first time find small classes, personal attention from superb faculty, experiential learning, an appreciation of diversity, and a sense of community that values the whole person. Supportive residential life programs, the chance to study abroad, and the excitement and challenge of championship Division III athletics round out the Keene State experience. The motto “Enter to learn, go forth to serve” engraved on the Appian Gateway becomes a touchstone in the lives of graduates.

Lift Voices High

The Keene State College Alma Mater

On lilac paths we've strolled, past halls in ivy twined,
'Neath Mount Monadnock rising bold,
Our college stands enshrined.
A toast to Keene, to days gone by,
For days to come, lift voices high and sing.

For Keene State College stands, throughout the mist of time,
Yet strong she spreads her knowledge grand, eternally benign.
A toast to Keene, to days gone by,
For days to come, lift voices high and sing.

David B. Staples

Granite State Award

Keene State College today honors Mr. David B. Staples, a Keene State College alumnus, for his professional accomplishments and dedication to service, which exemplify the best of the Keene State tradition and the Granite State spirit.

Despite hardship, Mr. Staples' life and career have been characterized by a positive attitude, readiness to serve, and openness to opportunity. Orphaned in 1945, he came to Keene and lived with family friends. He graduated from high school in 1948 and enrolled in what was then Keene Teacher's College (becoming Keene State College in 1963).

Mr. Staples left college in 1950 and was drafted into the U.S. Army, where he served as a chaplain's assistant on the front lines in the Korean War. In 1953, He returned to Keene, graduating in 1955. He went on to earn an MEd in elementary administration in 1960 and a certificate in advanced graduate studies from the University of Connecticut in 1963. Through a National Defense Education Act grant, he earned a master's degree in guidance counseling from UNH in 1968. Following his studies, Mr. Staples held several teaching posts and worked as a guidance counselor in Concord for 20 years, until he retired in 1988.

Mr. Staples is a model alumnus, dedicated to the mission of the College and generous with his time, expertise, and resources. He has attended every Reunion since 1959, save one in 2006, when he fell and tore a tendon in his knee while he was in Keene preparing for the event. He has served on Keene State College's Alumni Association Board of Directors, holding several offices, including president, vice president, secretary, treasurer, and chairman of various committees. He has also served on the University System of New Hampshire Board of Trustees and as a member of the Board of Directors for the Keene Endowment Association. He established the David B. Staples Family Endowed Scholarship to help KSC students.

Mr. Staples' civic engagement extends deep into the community and across the Granite State. He has served as president of the Merrimack Valley Retired Educators Association and has been a campaign volunteer for the United Way, receiving the Russell Martin Award for his outstanding efforts. He has been president of the Concord Education Association. In recognition of his service, Mr. Staples was awarded the Keene State College Alumni Association's Sprague Drenan Award in 1977 and the Outstanding Service Award in 1986.

Keene State College recognizes Mr. Staples for his tireless efforts on behalf of the College and the State of New Hampshire and for his commitment to enriching the lives of others. We are pleased to present him with the Granite State Award.

Commissioner Stephen H. Taylor

Honorary Doctor of Humane Letters

Keene State College today honors the Honorable Stephen H. Taylor, a farmer, journalist, editor, writer, and former commissioner of the New Hampshire Department of Agriculture, Markets, and Food, for his outstanding contributions to the state, including extensive public service and his involvement in and commitment to civic and charitable organizations.

Mr. Taylor's dedication to the people, culture, and history of New Hampshire has earned him much recognition and many awards. For 25 years, he served as commissioner of Agriculture and as a member of the University System of New Hampshire Board of Trustees, holding special interest in academic programs and policies and participating in several successful searches for key system and campus leaders.

A native of Plainfield, NH, Mr. Taylor has worked as a newspaper reporter and editor, a dairy farmer, and an authority on the state of New Hampshire, particularly its agricultural history. He wrote "100 Things You Should Do to Know the Real New Hampshire" and subsequently hosted a New Hampshire Public Television series based on this theme. As commissioner of Agriculture, he authored a popular, well-received column for The Weekly Market Bulletin, offering information and commentary on production agriculture, the food system, consumer interests, and rural life.

He also oversaw the development of New Hampshire's organic certification program years before the federal program existed. He was instrumental in developing the New Hampshire Farm and Forest Exposition, and his research resulted in the establishment of New Hampshire Made, a successful organization boasting more than 700 New Hampshire business members.

Mr. Taylor was founding executive director of the New Hampshire Humanities Council, which promotes scholarship and public engagement in the humanities. He was a founding board member of Leadership New Hampshire, an organization that educates and encourages citizens to take leadership roles in the state.

With his wife, Gretchen, and his sons, Mr. Taylor operates Taylor Brothers Sugarhouse and Creamery, a family farm venture that includes a 130-head dairy herd, a large maple-sugar operation, and a cheese-making enterprise in the Meriden Village section of Plainfield, NH. He continues to pursue his interest in the history and culture of rural New England and currently serves as a trustee of the Society for Protection of New Hampshire Forests and as a director of the New Hampshire Preservation Alliance, the Cornish Fair Association, and Yankee Farm Credit Bank.

His work has been far ranging, benefitting not only the agricultural community of New Hampshire, but all citizens of the state. Mr. Taylor is highly respected for his effective leadership; his demonstrated success with public policy and advocacy is exemplary. Given the strength of his diverse contributions, it is evident that he is worthy to receive this recognition. We are pleased to award him the honorary Doctor of Humane Letters degree.

The Academic Procession

The academic procession is derived from European religious processions of the 12th and 13th centuries, when universities were forming but were still closely associated with the medieval church. The procession is comprised of members of the Keene State faculty and administrative staff, in order of length of service, with those with the longest tenure appearing first. This group is followed by members of today's platform party. The final two participants to move onto the stage will be mace bearer Carl R. Granquist, professor of history, and President Helen F. Giles-Gee.

The Mace

The word mace is derived from the Latin mateola, meaning mallet or staff. In the Middle Ages, these staffs, with a ball of copper or brass at one end, were used as weapons against armored warriors. As weaponry became more sophisticated, the mace evolved as a symbol of power. Universities in Europe adopted the mace as a symbol of authority and unity, and today many institutions use the mace in a ceremonial capacity. A new Keene State College mace was presented to President Yarosewick by the KSC Alumni Association at his inauguration in 1995. Fashioned of black walnut and brass, the mace was made by Charles Sheaff, a member of the class of 1972 and professor of industrial technology. The mace is carried to official College functions by the senior faculty member in length of service to the College.

Gonfalons

Gonfalons are the flags that lead the procession of candidates into Commencement. Each gonfalon contains the Keene State College seal and the name of the school it represents: Arts and Humanities, Professional and Graduate Studies, and Sciences and Social Sciences. The primary colors in the banner represent Keene State College, and the colored trim represents the disciplines within the school. In the 12th century, gonfalons became the symbol of a state, family, or office. Since that time, they have become part of academic ceremonies, including commencements, convocations, and special events, such as the installation of a president.

Academic Regalia

The caps, gowns, and hoods seen today evolved from European medieval costumes worn during religious processions to distinguish church and university members from the laity. Most medieval scholars had taken at least minor orders and, like clerics, wore long robes for warmth in unheated buildings.

Modern academic costume in the United States is based on an intercollegiate code established in 1895. Most gowns are black, although in recent years more American universities have allowed the use of their college colors. The hood, which drapes over the back of the gown, carries the greatest symbolism of all the components of the academic costume. It dates back to the 12th century, when it functioned as a head cover and shoulder cape. The hood lining, which is exposed in the center as it lies over the back of the gown, matches the color or colors of the degree-granting institution, and the velvet trim on the hood reveals the wearer's major field of study. Those who hold more than one academic degree may wear only one hood at a time.

Academic Honors Recognition

Students graduating with honors from Keene State College enter the Commencement Ceremony wearing gold tassels. The tassels, awarded for outstanding academic accomplishment, are presented to the students at the Spring Honors Convocation on Friday afternoon.

International Sashes

Two groups of students wear international sashes during the Commencement Ceremony: international students and students who have participated in a Keene State College-sponsored study away program for credit. The sash represents the international student's country of origin or the host nation of the study away program.

Honor Cords and Red Sashes

Some graduating seniors wear cords or sashes representing membership in an honor society. Red sashes may also indicate participation in a recognized student organization.

The Recessional

Since the College's 75th anniversary year, the tradition of "clapping through" has been added to the Commencement recessional. Faculty and staff lead the recessional in two columns down the center aisle and out to Appian Way. The two rows turn and face each other, applauding as the graduates pass through. Clapping through allows the faculty and staff to congratulate the new degree recipients during the recessional. Graduates, faculty, staff, and families are then invited to the President's Reception at the Zorn Dining Commons and plaza.
